PERSPECTIVES OF SHETLAND LINKS WITH NEW ZEALAND

Shetland and NZ have much in common. Islands surrounded by ever-changing seascapes, a variety of interesting birds and a land where sheep outnumber people. Shetland is known for its traditional woolcrafts, intricate lacy shawls, colourfully patterned jerseys, scarves and hats. Many Shetlanders brought their arts and crafts with them to New Zealand and as in Shetland, contemporary forms and materials have emerged. In September 2022 the Shetland Society of Wellington will be 100 years old. We want to celebrate the links between NZ and Shetland through traditional and contemporary textile and fibre art and craft. We encourage entries to our exhibition from textile and fibre artists and craftspeople, weavers, felters, knitters, quilters and others.
